

Consulting Service on HACCP Certification in Cambodia

1- HACCP and Its Benefits:

Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Points (HACCP) is the operational system for food safety by identifying, evaluating and controlling hazards through the whole processes of food production. HACCP system guidelines are issued by the Codex Alimentarius Commission, and it has been recognized and accepted globally. HACCP can help food organizations to minimize the risks and hazards during the production process, provide better food quality, ensure that food is always safe for consumers and have better access to expand their business by being able to export their products to other countries where HACCP is required.

2- Our Consulting Services and the Scopes of Services:

Our staff who successfully completed the HACCP manager course is willing to assist your food company or organization who has an intention to get HACCP certificate or need our consultation about HACCP application.

We will provide only the consultation on the process of preparing the HACCP application and documentation. *The fee for HACCP application is not included in our services. **The hygiene/sanitation management and other works related to food/product process are the responsibility of the food company or organization.

3- How to Apply for Consulting Services and the Service Fee:

To get our consulting service, we would like to ask the food company or organization to complete the questionnaire by providing general information about your company or organization and products with the link provided here <https://forms.gle/s9tcKvNrZQYZ5mvq5> . We will go through your company's profile to consider offering the free of charge consulting service fee as our contribution to our first cooperation works. We will provide these opportunities with the first several qualified companies only. For the next companies or organizations, the services will be fully charged based on the scope of the work. Therefore, please do not miss this opportunity to work with us.

4- Our Future Plans:

We have planned to expand our services by further assisting food companies or organizations in Cambodia to be able to export their products to Japan and sharing the business experiences from Japan. We do hope that there will be many Cambodian products displayed at the international markets and gradually recognized by the consumers with their best quality and safety.

Please feel free to contact us if you have any further questions.
